LITTLE GIRL ASSAULTED BY BURLY NEGRO

WHO IS TAKEN TO LEBANON TO AVOID A LYNCHING—TO BE TRIED AT SPECIAL COURT

The entire community was greatly shocked and enraged when news came Saturday night of the attempt made by the negro, Shay Pellman, to criminally assault, little Nancy Hankin, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hankin, one of the most prominent and popular families in the northeastern section of Lincoln county. So efficient was the indignation against the negro that it is believed an attempt would have undoubtedly been made to lynch him had Sheriff McCarty taken him to the jail at Lebanon late Saturday night for safe keeping. His examining trial was fixed for Monday, but so large was the crowd in town then and so intense the feeling expressed against the black man, that County Judge J. P. Halley telephoned to the officers at Lebanon not to bring him here but to keep him until they should be notified otherwise.

Judge Lewis L. Walker, the newly appointed circuit judge of this district, was here Monday morning and called a special term of circuit court to begin here Sept. 28th to try Pellman. He gave instructions not to have the negro brought back here until that time, for it was easy to see the temper of the people regarding him.

The crime of the Pellman Negro was most revolting in its details, and the plight of the little girl as she told the horrible story to her mother between sobs was pitiable indeed. She had gone with Pellman to the spring house where the milk is kept during the hot summer months to fix the morning's milking. The spring house is some distance from the house, so that it would be hard for misdeeds to be heard. Once inside the spring house, the burly black man seized the child and threw her to the ground. She screamed and made such feeble resistance as she was capable of, but was a mere plaything in his hands. Her story of the affair is revolting and shows the cool brutality of the man. His purpose accomplished he told the child, that he would certainly kill her if she ever told anyone of what had taken place; so, still suffering and terror-stricken by the man and his dire threats, she hastened to the house.

After mother was coming from the house and met her, and quickly sensing that something was wrong, asked the cause of her torn and disordered clothes and the blood on her garments. Then it was that the little girl broke down completely and crying bitterly told her mother of what had occurred.

Horror-stricken as she was, Mrs. Hankin did not lose her self-possession. She is a woman of very level head and realized the consequences of an untoward move. She feared the Negro might escape. If a general alarm were given, so she quietly placed a small boy on a horse and had him ride hard to the homes of Thomas and Jop Hankin, brothers of her husband. They responded immediately together with other neighbors. They came armed with shot guns and revolvers, and went at once to the barn where the Negro was working, unconscious that his fearful deed was known. He seemed to believe that his threat to kill the little girl if she told, would secure his safety.

Feeling the determined men with guns, he knew it was all up, however. Before a word was said by them, he threw up his hands and got on the ground begging for his life and declaring that he had done nothing. He said that he had simply seen the little girl to the house, admonishing her that she would get her clothes wet in the spring house.

The Messrs. Hankin would have shot the Negro upon the slightest sign of flight or fight, but did not care to take his life in such a cold blood and being law-abiding citizens and realizing that it were best for all that the law be allowed to take its course, desisted from violence of any sort, and simply told him to accompany them to town. It was with some trouble, however that some of the hotter heads were restrained from shooting the Negro at once, but reason prevailed and they started for town with him in a buggy, several riding on horse back with loaded rifles and shotguns.

Near the home of Squire McKeehan at Hubbs, Sheriff McCarty and Deputy W. S. Embury and others from town met them and accompanied the armed cavalcade back to the city. News of the affair had quickly been bruited about, and there was a big crowd in front of the court house when the prisoner was brought in shortly after noon. He was taken at once to the court room of County Judge James P. Halley. The crowd was excluded so as to avoid any chance of violence being offered him, and Judge Halley then fixed his examining trial for Monday morning at nine o'clock. The Negro was then hustled to the county jail.

Late Saturday afternoon as the crowd began to gather in town and much mob talk was heard on the streets Judge Lewis L. Walker, the newly appointed circuit judge of this district, was telephoned to at his home at Lancaster and told of the conditions. It was suggested to him that he come to Stanford at once, and be in a position to assure the enraged friends of the Rankin family, should they seem disposed to take the law into their own hands, that he would inpanel a special grand jury at once and have an immediate trial. Judge Walker hardly thought it necessary that he come here, but expressed a willingness to try the Negro at once if it would do any good, and said that Judge Halley and County Attorney W. S. Hinch should take Pellman to Lexington if there was believed to be any danger to him from a mob.

Accompanied by Judge Hinch V. Smith, of Somerset, his brother-in-law Mr. Lee Hankin, father of the little girl, returned late Saturday afternoon from Somerset, where he had been attending the fair. He and other relatives brought the little girl to town Monday, thinking that the examining trial of Pellman would be held then, the time fixed by Judge Halley. The little girl is still ill from the harrowing experience. She is almost a mere baby in size and is frail, but is a pretty child.

It is believed to be a certainty that the death penalty will be meted out to Pellman, the law making his crime, the only one in the category except murder, for which capital punishment is provided. Under the present law he is installed at the state penitentiary would not be hung. If convicted, but electrocuted in the death chair at Frankfort. However, the apparatus for inflicting this new mode of capital punishment in Kentucky has not yet been installed at the state penitentiary. It is understood, so that the old fashioned gallows and noose would undoubtedly be called on to do its work, where the death penalty is inflicted by a jury.

Pellman is a married man with three children. He had worked for Mr. Rankin for about six years and so far as known had never been in trouble before, except that it was charged several times that he sold blind tiger whiskey to the negroes in his community. He has several brothers in that section of the county. One is said to have been in town Saturday morning selling groceries, but when he heard of the affair and saw his brother being brought in by the armed men, he vanished out of town in a hurry.

Crab Orchard.

The London fair was well patronized in reports are correct that 90 railroad tickets were sold at this station. Mr. Robert Thompson brought back several blue ribbons on his string of horses.

Mrs. J. C. McWhorter was called to Harbordsville by telegram to be with her brother who is critically ill with typhoid fever.

Rev. R. C. Kimble has returned home after holding a most satisfactory meeting of two weeks near Campbellsville.

Mrs. Will Burch of Staaford and Sam Burch, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., were visitors at the Crab Orchard Springs this week.

Mrs. Gabe Addams and children, of Frankfort are visiting her mother Mrs. Jauie Buchanan.

Miss Anna Bronaugh has returned from London after attending the fair and visiting her many friends of that little city.

Not a minute should be lost when a child shows symptoms of croup. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

GREAT INTEREST IN TWO BIG STOCK SALES

BIG CROWD OF PROMINENT BUYERS EXPECTED HERE
TODAY AND TOMORROW

Two of the biggest stock sales ever held in this part of Kentucky, or the South, for that matter, will be held in Stanford today, Tuesday, and tomorrow. Hon. W. H. Shanks will have his big sale of mules, brood mares, jacks, and cattle at his farm between the Crab Orchard and Somerset pikes today. On Wednesday J. H. Baughman will sell at his former home place, just on the outskirts of town on the Somerset pike, what has been advertised as the "finest herd of mules and brood mares in Central Kentucky." Col. J. P. Chandler will cry the first sale, while Col. I. M. Dunn and T. D. English will officiate at the Baughman dispersal.

The weather conditions for ideal sale days could not be more auspicious, but both sales were held, rain or shine. Mr. Baughman is determined that J. H. Baughman shall not interfere with him in the least so has secured the big exhibition tent of the Kadel-Kritchfield shows which are playing at the opera house this week. This immense tent seats 1,000 people and makes a splendid sale enclosure. Both men have engaged expert hurgoo makes to serve the dinners which will be free to everyone attending. Conveyances will meet all trains.

No sales held in Kentucky in recent years have been so fully and systematically advertised as these two sales. Thousands of hills have been spread broadcast over all this section of the state, while the advertising columns of the newspapers in this territory have been used most lavishly and judiciously. Both men have not stinted themselves in this regard for they have the "goods" and they realized that the only effective way to let the people know it was through the use of printer's ink.

Mr. Baughman's final ad is found on the last page of this issue. In it he gives the wonderful record his mules have made in the fair rings of Kentucky, and tells just what he has to offer.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is today the best known medicine in use for the relief and cure of bowel complaints. It cures griping, diarrhoea, dysentery, and should be taken at the first unnatural looseness of the bowels. It is equally valuable for children and adults. It always cures. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

A special from Glasgow says: "Wm. Bridges a farmer, lost two valuable cows in a peculiar manner. Mr. Bridges had been working the road and brought home two sticks of dynamite in his wagon. He drove under the shed in his barn and left the wagon for the night. When he went out to milk the next morning he found both lying dead, and a piece of chewed dynamite told the story."

Start to rid yourself of catarrh today. Breathe Hyomel; it will cure you. Ask G. L. Penny about it. He guarantees it. Complete outfit including inhaler $1 Separate bottle 50c

REGISTRATION LAW NEEDED IN KENTUCKY

ED WALTON SAYS THAT OF GEOR-GIA HELPS IN HOLDING HONEST ELECTIONS.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 5.
I notice in Friday's Interior Journal that you tell me on my prediction that Gov. Brown would defeat Ex-Gov. Hoke Smith. When I wrote the letter some three weeks ago it did look very much like Brown would be victor, but things changed and he was the vanquished instead. I wrote you'll remember, that people were for Smith but the politicians, realizing that they could not control him, were against him and for Gov. Brown, who possesses nothing like so much stability. I believe that the political jugglers would do what I have seen them so frequently do in Kentucky—thwart the will of the people. But they couldn't do it this time. The registration law, which Gov. Smith is due the credit of having passed, kept people from over in Tennessee and Alabama from coming over into Georgia and indulging in the right of suffrage. This law that all voters register six months in advance of elections and it would be a great thing for Kentucky if such a law were in force there. In Lincoln county it would be an especial blessing, for it would forever put an end to the gang just over the line in other counties crossing over and voting. It would mean that the crowd that usually comes up from around Shelby City to Stanford would have to devise other means of making money on election day.

By the way, how did you get it into your cranium, Brer. Saufley, that Gov. Brown did not favor the enforcement of the prohibition law? From inquiry of a number of Georgians I felt to find that he ever even intimated that he was against the law and certainly he would not have been so foolish as to go on record as favoring the disobedience of it. From what I can glean Gov. Brown's record on the whisky question is fully as good as that of Hon. Hoke Smith's or anyone else. He is a big man in the Baptist church and a Christian gentleman.

(Our information was gotten from an associate Press dispatch from Atlanta.—Ed.)

No sooner had the gubernatorial primary been disposed of than a race for mayor and other city offices was begun. The present mayor, Mr. R. F. Maddox, declined to stand for re-election but since he took the convention of mayors at St. Paul by storm, Atlanta people regardless of party affiliation, have begun a canvass for him. The national convention of mayors meets here next time and they want a good man like Mr. Maddox to receive and turn the keys of the city over to the visiting hosts. Mr. Maddox has made a most satisfactory official and is one of the big men of Atlanta. He is president of the American National Bank and has the handsomest home in the suburbs of this great city. He is a man among men and a mayor of whom the people are justly proud.

The present has surpassed all other years in building here. At present over $5,000,000 worth of contracts are being carried out here and they include every kind of building from a cheap cottage to a million-dollar hotel is being constructed at the corner of Peachtree and Ponce de Leon Aves. and will be the most beautiful hotel building in the South, excepting a few of Pagler's Winter hotels in Florida. Joseph Gatins, an old Atlanta man but now one of New York City's multi-millionaires, is the promoter. He loves the city he lived in for years in and intends to do a good part of it. This will give Atlanta a number of high-grade hotels, including the Piedmont, the Aragon, the Kimball, the Peachtree Inn and number of others.

I have read in the I. J., several articles on the life of Judge M. C. Saufley and have felt like shaking hands with and congratulating those from whose pens they came. I have added my amen to each of them and could do justice to the life of the honorable and honored dead I would add one more laurel to his wreath. He was a great man and a most remarkable in many ways. His death is a blow that will be felt in the good State of Kentucky for years to come. May time assuage the grief of those who loved and respected him who sleeps in beautiful Buffalo cemetery.

GREAT DAY FOR TOBACCO POOLERS

CAMPAIGN GIVEN IMPETUS AT PAINT LICK—SPEAKING HERE ON NEXT MONDAY

The movement for pooling of the 1910 tobacco crop was given a great impetus south of the river at the enthusiastic meeting of Harard and Madison county growers held at Paint Lick Saturday. Congressman Owsley Stanley, Ward Hendley, Col. Jack Tillam, Bradley Wilson and others who are fighting for the success of the pool all made speeches and at the conclusion, a dozen of the most prominent farmers and tobacco growers in that section signed up their 1910 crops. Among them were the men who had signed the call for this meeting to discuss the situation.

Big Speaking Here.
The next big meeting will be held here in Stanford next Monday, County Court day. Hon. Ward Hendley, the silver-tongued orator from Western Kentucky, who went through the successful fight with the dark tobacco growers against the trust, will be on hand, as will R. L. Ferguson, Vice President of the Berley Tobacco Society, Bradley Wilson and others. It is planned to have Congressman Stanley come a little later. The leaders in this movement hope to have a large attendance of all tobacco men who are interested in maintaining the present good price of the crop, whether they intend to pool or not. The speaking will be held in the court house beginning at 1:30 o'clock.

Parkville

Misses Mary and Nancy Cozatt are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gatten at Bradfordsville. Mr. Ernest Wayne is visiting his brother, Mr. J. T. Wayne, at Somerset, and attending the Pulaski county fair. Mrs. James D. Baxter, of Gravel Switch was a guest of Mrs. J. E. Caldwell last week. Mr. Jack Watson, of Bradfordsville, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cozatt. Mr. F. I. Jones made a business trip to Campbellsville Tuesday. Mr. M. Key Westfield is spending a few days at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Westfield. Mrs. J. W. Cozatt, and son of Jessamine county, were guests of Mrs. Anale Parks last week. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Devers, of Gravel Switch, visited Mr. W. B. Overstreet and wife last week. Miss Ella Blandford is a guest of relatives at LaFollette, Tenn. Mrs. N. A. Vanarsdall is visiting her son, Charles in Chicago, Ill. Mr. John H. Parks is a guest of his uncle, Mr. Grauville Durham, of Akron, Ohio.

A horse attached to a buggy containing Misses Myrtle Brown and Margaret Hays got frightened at the trials Saturday and ran away, smashing the buggy pretty thoroughly. The occupants escaped unhurt.

So thoroughly impressed with his studies was Master William Brown when he retired Friday evening that later in the night he arose from his couch of rest and wended his way to the acoolhouse on the hill. When he arrived at the place of destination he awoke.

Mr. George W. Tucker sold 10 hogs to Mr. Geo. W. Coulter for which he received ten cents a pound. Mr. E. Moore received the same price from the same party for five.

I was sadly disappointed at the failure of either Hon. P. M. McRoberts or Judge Geo. M. Davison to receive the appointment to the place made vacant by the death of Judge M. C. Saufley. Both are good men and I had set my heart on hearing that one or the other of them had landed the perch. In my opinion either would have filled the exalted position quite as acceptably as Judge Lewis L. Walker. I was just a little partial to Mr. McRoberts, who has done more work for his party and gotten less than any member of the G. O. P. I know of. The refusal of Mr. McRoberts to go to London when "Hog Jaw" Taylor adjourned the legislature to that little mountain hamlet during the stormy scenes at Frankfort would have procured the appointment for him rather than have defeated him. Republicans have a strange way of doing things though and their ways are ways of mystery. I hope yet to see Mr. McRoberts honored.

There is a quiet lip out here that State Auditor Frank P. James is going to write a letter of apology to our new Circuit Judge Lewis L. Walker, for the unrestrained method Mr. James employed in discussing the appointment of Mr. Walker to the judgeship by Acting Governor Cox. Mr. James is said to have been reminded that it was Mr. Walker who placed his name before the republican state convention as a candidate for auditor, and that it was through Senator Bradley's influence, wielded at Walker's request that put James over the plate for the nomination and gave him the job he now holds. We do not know the truth of all this, but a mighty reliable little bird whose roost is in the rafters of a certain log cabin vouches for it all. So it does seem that politicians sometimes have mighty short memories.

"OUR GRAND OLD MAN."

J. Proctor Knott quietly celebrated his 80th birthday at his home in Lebanon Monday. He is the "Grand Old Man" of Kentucky and we trust that having lived for four score years, that he may be spared for many days yet to come and that they may all be days of peace and contentment. J. Proctor Knott was not only the greatest man that this district ever sent to Congress, but the entire State never had an abler, a more brilliant or more honest man in the Halls of Congress. His name is known from one end of this country to the other. As the Chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the House he ranked with Jerry Black as the first constitutional lawyer of the country. As a debater on the floor he was a match for James G. Blaine. As a satirist he was in a class all by himself and his Duluth speech has never been equaled in the English language. As a man of letters, as an artist and a sculptor he has rare talents and great knowledge. Knowing him intimately for more than twenty years of his public life he never ceased to surprise us with the infinite variety of his knowledge and his absolute correctness and thoroughness. Taking him in the breadth and scope of his mind and in the versatility of his talents we are fully persuaded that there does not live in the South a greater man than J. Proctor Knott. He is as great as were Deek, Carlisle, Hill, of Georgia, or Lamar, of Mississippi who were his colleagues in Congress. On his 80th birthday we take off our hat to the "Grand Old Man" of Kentucky and our dear old friend, J. Proctor Knott.—Elizabethtown News.

Good News

"I write to tell you the good news that Cardui has helped me so much and I think it is just worth its weight in gold," writes Mrs. Maryan Marshall, of Woodstock, Ga. "I do hope and trust that ladies who are suffering as I did, will take Cardui, for it has been a God's blessing to me, and will certainly help every lady who is suffering."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

No matter if you suffer from headache, backache pains in arms, shoulders and legs, dragging-down feelings, etc., or if you feel tired, weary, worn-out and generally miserable—Cardui will help you. It has helped thousands of other weak, sick ladies and if you will only give it a trial, you will be thankful ever after.

The Courier-Journal Sunday had this announcement, which will be of much interest here, where the bride-to-be was born and lived for many years with her parents: Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Eastland announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Adelle Chrysler Eastland to Mr. Samuel Caldwell Walker, of Perryville. The wedding will take place in October.

Mrs. R. L. Davidson and daughter, Margaret, and Miss Minnie Straub and Mary-Jim Straub took in the Exposition at Cincinnati last week.

Mrs. Dora Straub is at home after a delightful tour of Europe. She visited four foreign countries while over the water.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will meet Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Geo. D. Hopper.

Mr. Ned Smith, of Norfolk, Va., a former Stanford boy, is the guest of his uncle, Mr. Bailey Hill and family.

Mrs. J. B. Smith and pretty little baby, Alice More, have returned home after a month's visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Gooch.

Miss Sarah Curtis, of Hustonville, went home with Mrs. Smith and will spend a few months in Morrow, Ga.

Miss Lillie B. Greer, the attractive little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Greer, of Perryville, won the $5 gold piece at the Perryville fair for being the prettiest girl baby. She is ten months old and a grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Greer of this city.

Misses Pearl and Hannah Alandge are visiting friends in Harrodsburg. They attended the fair in that place last week and received two premiums on Montmellick and French embroidery.

Mr. Thomas Gooch, of Ray county, Missouri, has been the guest of his cousin Mr. W. T. Gooch and other relatives in the West End. The former's father went from Kentucky to Missouri in the early days and this is Mr. Gooch's first visit to his father's old home.

CALDWELL—JONES.

A special from Cazenovia, N. Y. to the Courier Journal says: "The engagement of Mrs. Tillie Brandt Colwell, of this place, and Hrekenridge Jones, a St. Louis banker and descendant of a distinguished family, was announced here to-day. The marriage will take place the latter part of September. Mrs. Colwell who was born in St. Louis, is the daughter of Col. Joshua H. Brandt, who won his title by gallant service in the war of 1812. The grandfather, John Brandt, served with honor in the Revolutionary War. The bride-elect's mother was Miss Sarah Benton, niece of Senator Tbos. H. Benton."

Mr. Jones president and counsel of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company and a telephone magnate, is one of the most successful and esteemed financiers in the South and West. His extraordinary ability and achievements are appreciated even by competitors.

After finishing a scholastic course in Kentucky, his native State, he taught school and studied law. The potential influence is the result of his own efforts, and his advancement has not altered the democratic spirit which imbued him at the beginning of his career.

Mr. Jones is a former resident of Danville, and has many friends here who extend congratulations.

The first home grown watermelons appeared on the local market this last week and were sold at very good prices. According to those who will have them for the market this year, the crop will be better than last season, although the rain retarded the growth and they are now about ten days late. Cantaloupes are in abundance and about up to the average.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 7th '10,

Beginning at 9 o'clock a. m. Sharp, at my Home Farm, one-half mile South of the Railroad Station, on Somerset street, Stanford, Ky., the following property, to-wit:

ONE JACK, NAMED SAMSON,

Six Years Old, sired by Bill Goebel; he by the great Joe Blackburn, that sold for $1,825. Samson is the CHAMPION MULE JACK OF KENTUCKY, his colts having won more premiums at the Kentucky State Fair, the Blue Grass Fair and several Central Kentucky Fairs than any other jack's colts; as well as at the Lancaster, Danville, Harrodsburg, Lexington, Lawrenceburg and Perryville Fairs, this year, the only fairs at which they have been shown to date. This Jack Will be Sold at 1 o'clock SHARP!

70 MULES! 70

Twenty Colts, half of them Mares,—16 Yearlings; half of them Mares; 20 two-year-olds; half of them Mares. Nearly all broken to work, including Six Pairs, Well Mated, Fourteen Mules, from 3 to 8 years old, including one pair Premium Horse Mules that weigh 3,900 lbs. Twenty of the above are show mules. I Have Won 175 Premiums in '08, '09 and '10 to date, which is more than any other breeder or dealer in this State can say. All the mules I won the premiums on, except three, I sold last fall, are in this Sale.

60 BROOD MARES Bred to Jacks, Forty to My Great Mule Jack, Samson. 60

3 2-YEAR-OLDS; 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT ABOUT 1,100 LBS.
6 4-YEAR-OLDS; 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,200 LBS.
20 5-YEAR-OLDS; 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,400 LBS.
10 6-YEAR-OLDS; 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,500 LBS.
11 7 & 10-YEAR-OLDS; 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,600 LBS.
10 SMOOTH MOUTHED; 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,600 LBS.

MOST OF THESE MARES ARE WELL BROKEN TO WORK ANYWHERE; AND ABOUT ONE-HALF HAVE COLTS THIS YEAR THAT WILL BE SOLD AT THIS SALE; AND THE OTHERS WERE BOUGHT IN THE SPRING IN INDIANA, ILLINOIS AND MISSOURI.

DON'T YOU NEED A FEW BROOD MARES? THERE IS NO STOCK ON THE FARM THAT WILL PAY BETTER THAN A FEW GOOD MARES THAT WILL RAISE $85 TO $125 MULE COLTS. THAT'S WHAT THEY ARE BRINGING IN KENTUCKY TODAY AND THERE HAS NEVER BEEN SUCH A DEMAND. THE BEST COLTS ARE OUT OF MARES WITH FROM 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT BLOOD. THEY HAVE BETTER BONE AND WEIGHT AND 90 PER CENT OF THE SHOW MULES ARE OUT OF SUCH MARES.

The Walkers, of upper Garrard, the most extensive tobacco growers of the county, sometime since estimated their yield at a full three-fourths crop and since the favorable conditions of the last few weeks a seven-eighths yield will very likely be the good fortune of the cultivators of the weed in the Paint Lick section.

A GOOD POSITION.

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or "Railway telegraphy." Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutes in America under supervision of R. R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., or Philadelphia, Pa.
